

Geoffrey Chow is a university lecturer and business educator.

Geoffrey holds an MBA, Diploma in Programming Technology (IT), and B.Sc. from Monash University.

He had practical experience in several industries for decades before joining academia where he has taught postgraduate as well as undergraduate classes. He has also supervised more than one dozen postgraduate students.

His research interests are in two separate areas: 1) Ethnic Chinese business entrepreneurship in East and Southeast Asia, 2) Mobile computing.

Geoffrey holds full membership of: Australian Computer Society, Graduate Management Association of Australia, and the Academy of International Business.